duffmansweenie: 5 stars dude, perfect

WrathofKahn: I dunno if this is really how John plays it, but that's not important. This sounds perfect.

tbonekelly: yeah i must say i don't know for a fact that this is how John plays it, but i'm pretty confident he does. it's just the tonal value of the higher strings, they might be the same notes but they sound brighter when played open on a capo than just fingered. It's the same with Breakin' capo on 4th fret using E chord and Under the bridge intro capo on 2nd fret using C chord. Thanks for the feedback people. Tbone
